

Why would someone buy an ad this large, and use less than half of it? Why would a water department leave a hole in a water tower tank gushing thousands of gallons into the mud hole next to an intermediate school for over 6 weeks? Why would someone spend over $250,000 to put in a public bathroom within 4 blocks of at least 6 public bathrooms?

I guess that if its free money, it doesn't really matter. You, on the other hand, need to spend every dollar carefully. That's why you would rather tune up your computer instead of tossing it. Or maybe replacing the computer is the right thing to do. Either way, you know that getting the opinion and instruction of an experienced computer professional is usually money well spent, and will generally save you money in the long run. I don't have an unlimited supply of free tax dollars, and I know that you don't either.
